ANARCHIST BULLETIN

Washington Aroused Over Appearance of Anti-Government Publication.

Aroused over the appearance in Washington yesterday of an anti-government publication styling itself the "Anarchist Soviet Bulletin," with the stated purpose of organizing Bolshevism in the United States, and with one man arrested at Paterson, N. J., charged with distributing copies of it there, officials of the Department of Justice have begun a diligent investigation to determine its source and to take necessary action in having it suppressed.

A man describing himself as Robert Parsons, a Canadian, was arrested in Paterson with several hundred copies of the publication, which is in pamphlet form, in his possession, who claims to have distributed the propaganda in many cities. His arrest, it is believed, may lead to the solution of the mystery concerning the source of the pamphlet.

According to the publication, its first issue numbers 650,000 copies. Its aim is "the taking over of all industries and land by the American Anarchist Federation of Commune Soviets." It urges workers in factories mines and stores to organize Bolshevik bodies and seize all properties and for soldiers and sailors to take possession of the cables.

It claims that a Washington branch of the American Anarchist Federated Commune Soviet has been established and that branches are being organized throughout the country, New York, Pittsburgh and San Francisco are included in the organization, it is claimed, and farmers of South Dakota formed a branch four weeks ago. The Pittsburgh body is said to have a membership of 2,400.

The propagandists hope to win Senator La Follette over to their movement. He is described as the coming saviour of their cause.

President Wilson "can form and will form nothing but a league of worlds thieves and murderers," rants the publication in referring to the President's efforts at the peace conference.

INVITES HUNS TO VERSAILLES

American Economic Program is Practically Completed

PENNED B Y WILSON

Experts Predict Treaty of Peace Will Be Signed Within Two Weeks After Presentation.

Paris, April 17.—The American economic program is practically completed and it provides a number of special advantages to France to the indemnities from Germany, the arrangement to expire at the end of five years unless renewed by the league of nations.

The Saar arrangements provides that the coal consumed in the district itself shall not be taken over by France. Also the coal sent to the gas-making plants in Germany is not to be interfered with and a limited period is accorded German industries to affect a readjustment enabling them to obtain fuel prior to the taking over of the supply by France.

The official invitation to the Germans to come to Versailles and receive the peace treaty was penned by President Wilson himself and despatched to Weimar, the present seat of the German government Tuesday night by special courier.

It is understood that the 200 German peace delegates will comprise leaders of every phase of German life

Experienced diplomats say the treaty should be signed in a fortnight after its delivery to the Germans; that is unless it is rejected, which latter contingency is not anticipated.

It virtually has been settled that the treaty will not be published in advance of its signing but there is a possibility that there will be an executive session of the Peace Conference at which it will be read before it is handed to the Germans.

While there has been no official confirmation that a time limit will be placed on the Germans, the French consider such action as probable, else the discussion would drag on with out end.

MAY SHOW THREE TIMES

Picture Sunday in Interest of Victory Loan Committee

The Victory Loan Committee is being congratulated upon its success in securing the motion picture "The Price of Peace" containing over five thousand feet of film actually taken on the battlefront where one of the corp of photographers was killed by a shell. The committee is willing to make every effort to have all citizens see this picture and if necessary it will be shown three times on next Sunday at the Richmond and Ingomar Theatres. This is an opportunity for everyone to actually see the first of the American forces leaving an Atlantic port on the great steamship Leviathan, which on this occasion is in its dress of camouflage and later they will see it return with the victorious warriors with its war dress gone. The American Red Cross workers will have an opportunity to see the wonderful train of ambulances rushed to the front and bring back the wounded. There is hardly any of the important activities not depicted in this picture and that Alexandria should have secured it for the opening of the Victory Liberty Loan Bond sale is gratifying. The admission will be free and the only limit upon the number of admissions will be the seating capacity of the places where the picture will be shown. Children unaccompanied by parents will not be admitted.

SHIPMAN IN THE RING

Winchester, Va., April 17.—Charles H. Shipman, Leesburg, announces that he is an independent candidate for Congress from the Eighth Virginia district. He said he was a Democrat, but that $1,000, the cost of entering the primary, is too high, and he prefers to take chances alone. Mr. Shipman, who was Gov. Davis' campaign manager, was for years an evangelistic singer.

Don't forget the Democratic primary next Tuesday the 22 of April and vote for R. Walton Moore for Congress. 91-5t.

DRUG ADDICTS INCREASE

Health Authorities of New York and Federal Agents Become Alarmed

Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of Public Charities, of New York, discussing the drug menace, recently, said:

"Drug addiction is a natural consequence of prohibition. I am not discussing the merits of the prohibition question at all when I say this. Any person, regardless of his views on prohibition, must concede this point, that a drinker of whiskey is apt to find a substitute if it be within his reach when whiskey is beyond his reach.

"I had abundant opportunities to observe this when I was in the South as president of the North Carolina Public Service Commission and of the Carolina and Yadkin River Railroad Company. The change from 'wet' to 'dry' resulted in a calamitous increase in the use of narcotic drugs. That, too, in a section of the country where habit forming drugs had been little used prior to the enactment of the Statewide prohibition law.

"My observations here in New York as head of the Department of Public Charities, have been along the same line, for while prohibition is not yet effective here, the price of alcoholic liquors has gone up to such a high figure that some of the results of prohibition may be anticipated.

"I expect to see worse results in this city than I saw in North Carolina after prohibition comes. It was bad enough there. The situation at one time was so serious the State authorities of North Carolina had to take drastic action. They put the dealers in the drug traffic in jail when they were caught again selling drugs. I think Dr. Copeland is right in saying that prohibition will bring about a condition in New York concerning the drug habit which the most conservative citizen may well contemplate with solemn concern."

WIFE FREES PRISONER

Alleged Deserter Then Shot Twice and Finally Captured by Posse

Christiansburg, Va., April 17—Jailer Chandler was badly beaten by W. L. Canada in a desperate effort to escape when the jailer entered the prisoner's cell. To save the life of her husband, whom Canada had borne down to the floor in an effort to get possession of his pistol. Mrs. Chandler unlocked the door and allowed the prisoner to escape.

While Canada was crossing the jail yard fence in his flight, Jailer Chandler regained his feet and fired at him three times striking him twice, but not checking his flight. An alarm was sounded and a posse of about 100 men immediately gave chase.

Canada was captured on Flaggs Mountain, about two miles from the town at the point of a pistol by Peeb Jones, courthouse janitor, and brought back to jail. Canada is an alleged deserter from the navy and is being held on a charge of highway robbery.

It is not thought that either his wounds or those of Jailor Chandler will prove fatal.

GIRLS MAY STRIKE

W. and M. Students Resent Ousting of Several for Flooding Scrape

Williamsburg, Va., April 17.—Students of William and Mary College Tuesday morning "struck" because of the summary dismissal of eight or ten of their number by the faculty. Only ten male students attended lectures this morning and the twenty women students are talking of joining the strike.

Eight or ten students were dismissed because the room of a student was flooded with water following his alleged refusal to attend an athletic rally.

The students take the stand that the dismissal of the men was uncalled for and hold that the student council should have been consulted. They have handed the faculty an ultimatum, and say they will leave for their homes in the morning unless the trouble is straightened out.

HIS SWORN STATEMENT

Virginia Candidate Files Statement of Campaign Expenses

In this state a candidate is required to file a complete statement of his campaign expenses. Here is what one candidate claims it costs him:

"Lost 1,349 hours of sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a whole lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to a county barbecue. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5.00 cash and thirteen baby rattles. Kissed 126 babies. Kindled fourteen kitchen fires. Put up four stoves. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 9.508 persons. Total 10,101 lies, and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes. Attended sixteen revival meetings and was baptized four different times by immersion and twice some other way. Contributed $50 to foreign missions, and made love to nine grass widows. Hugged forty-nine old maids. Got dog-bit thirty-nine times. Milked at least 100 cows, distributed at least 500 copies of a Richmond newspaper. Filled five ice houses for my neighbors. Nursed fifteen cases typhoid fever, and had the itch and influenza at the same time—and was defeated.

CHALONER A PROPHET

Points to Writing About War as Chronicled by Him August 6, 1914

New York, April 17.—John Armstrong Chaloner lays claim to being a prophet, calling attention to predictions made by him on August 6, 1914, five days after the war started.

"They may call me a 'nut'" said he, "but even a 'nut' may be a prophet."

Some of Chaloner's prophecies, written on the date named follow:

"The war will las tmore like three years than three months."

"France will reverse 1870. She will rise like a phoenix from the ashes of that adventurous folly upon the part of a political upstart and revert to the days of Jena, Wagram and Austerlitz, when the Germans and Austrians were her opponents in vain. She will surprise the world as much as Japan did with Russia."

"The German fleet will either be captured or sunk by Great Britain, and German commerce will be driven from the sea."

The prophecy concluded with certain terms which are to be included in the peace treaty, including the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France provision for keeping Germany's and Austria's military forces on a peace footing and the reduction of world armament to the needs of a world police force.

"I respectfully commend this prophecy to my brothers, Lewis Stuyvesant and Willie Astor Chanler," said Chaloner, "who for twenty-two years unsuccessfully fought to have me incarcerated for life as a dangerous lunatic.

"I'll see them both in perdition before I even speak to them. As for Bob, he has the genius of a Michael Angelo and the art of a rainbow, but he is semiallied against me.

"I am at war with all the Chanler family. It is still my mission to get our lunacy laws so amended that justice shall be meted out to the individual, particularly such as have suffered as I have."

Chaloner said he had been receiving reams of begging letters, many of which said: "Our hearts go out to you." His comment was, "Yes, and your hands, too."

BLUEBEARD SUSPECTED

Believe to Have Made Specialty of Marrying and Doing Away With Widows of Property

Paris, April 17.—The disappearance of a number of women from a suburb of Paris has led to the arrest of Henri Laudru who, Paris detectives assert may be able to solve the mystery of their continued absence from home.

The missing women were acquaintances of Laudru, who is declared to have made a specialty of becoming engaged to widows. The police authorities say that from papers found in Laudru's possession they believe that he had at least ten financees who can not be found.

Under the name of George Dupont Laudru hired in 1915 a lovely villa in the outskirts of the village of Cambess, on the border of the Rambouille forest. The villa is almost surrounded by walls and is 550 yards from the nearest house. The allegation is made that Laudru paid only brief visits to the villa, always accompanied by women, none of whom was seen to leave the place.

One woman who visited the house brought with her two small dogs, the bodies of which were found Sunday under a heap of leaves. They had been strangled by a cord. Women's dresses a revolver, a rifle, a bloodstained mattress, and cord similar to that with which the dog was strangled are alleged to have been found in the villa. Laudru, the detectives say, admitted having used various names, because he had been imprisoned several times. He denied that he did away with any of the women, but said he killed the dogs at the request of the woman, because it was too expensive to feed them.

THE CHECK ON BOLSHEVISM

Home building is one of the best antidotes for checking the spread of Bolshevism and industrial unrest, Secretary of Labor Wilson declares.

In view of the nation-wide shortage of 1,000,000 homes, he urged that cities and large business interests give every assistance to plans for building new homes. Not only will this provide much buffer employment at a time when it is sorely needed, but it will put up a great barrier to the efforts of the radical agitators, the Secretary believes.

"I have found that the man who owns his own home is the least susceptible to the so-called Bolshevist doctrines, and is about the last man to join in the industrial disturbances fomented by the radical agitators," Mr. Wilson says "Owning a home gives a man an added sense of responsibility to the national and local government that makes for the best type of citizenship."

Providing of modern homes for labor by large corporations is the best kind of an investment, he believes. These houses can be bought by the working man on the installment plan, as is being planned by an Elizabeth, N. J., company, which has purchased a large tract of land to erect houses that will be sold to employes at cost on the monthly payment basis.

An Alexandrian, prominent and far-seeing in his day, once observed that building associations were the best antidotes for unrest among the laborers and mechanics of a city. "Put a man in a way to acquire his own home and you make of him a good citizen."

Secretary Wilson is correct, as was also our deceased friend. The man who owns a house or is paying for one in an association realizes that he is a tax-payer and he will naturally think when the time comes to vote. But the man whose sole possessions consist in what he has upon his back, and many such are tax-dodgers, is ever ready to vote for anything. He has nothing to lose.

We live in a day of campaigns and crusades for this and that object. A building campaign among the workmen of the nation would do more towards relieving the country of the present unrest than anything else.

THE EXPENSIVE TEACHER

When, a year or two before the war, Alfred Kerr, German publicist and editor of the review, Pan, told George Bourdon, of the Paris Figaro, that the indemnity would be 25 billions he anticipated the figures correctly says the Philadelphia Record, "but in other respects he was very much in error. He expected the indemnity to be paid by Bourdon's country to Germany, and he meant francs. It proved that the indemnity will be paid by Germany, and it will be dollars.

Germany made money out of the war with France, and expected to make a great deal more the next time. You paid too easily, he told Bourdon. He explained without emotion that the next war was contemplated by Germany; the cost had been calculated. Germany, he said, was a nation of shopkeepers. The only thing it thought of was getting rich quickly. France would be annihilated. We want colonies, and yours are desirable. But England was to be the real victim; it was to be relegated to the rear.

"The ruin of Germany dates from its collection from France of an indemnity that afforded a large profit on the costs of the war. Ever since that time the German people have been perfectly convinced that any war they might engage in would be short and highly remunerative. They know better now, but experience is an expensive teacher.

NEW CLASS OF CRIMINALS

Crime, which speakers said was caused by former soldiers unable to secure employment, was discussed at the twenty-sixth annual convention of the International Association of Chief of Police in New Orleans a few days ago. William A. Pinkerton, one of the speakers, declared he believed the present increase in daylight robberies was due in large measure to unemployment among discharged soldiers.

"Methods used," he said, "are those of men accustomed to taking great risks, men who will brook no interference. They constitute a new class of criminals. They are not professionals, but are usually young men between 20 and 30 years of age, who will kill if resisted."

Communicated

Editor, Alexandria Gazette,
Dear Sir:

A movement is being advocated for a City Governor for Alexandria. This is a very serious undertaking. Thus far it has neither been thoroughly considered or digested. As a citizen of Alexandria, and a considerable property owner, I would suggest for the peple of Alexandria that they be very careful before they unadvisedly, advocate this movement. I have read several publications and reports, but I have seen nothing in any of them which would convince me that it was advantageous for our city to adopt a one man "Boss" Government. As I now look at the matter, I think that amendments to our present laws would accomplish all the purposes of a one man Government, and avoid the necessity of overturning our form of Government, which has existed for over a century, and which can be easily changed to meet all the problematical, advantages of this one man government which is foreign to our institutions, and is only used where drastic measures are necessary; the necessity of which, in my judgment, does not exist in Alexandria.

This is only a caution to those who are interested in Alexandria like myself. I am only suggesting every one to pause and think before committing themselves. I am further asking that through the columns of the Gazette, the advocates of this movement will state their reasons for the change in the City Government, and, specifically point out the present defects, and how their proposed change will meet these defects, and what it will cost the city and its people, and I will undertake to answer these matters, and either point out a better way of solving the problems of inefficiency or advocate advisable changes.

Respectfully,
J. K. M. NORTON.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.

Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

Stimulate Retail Sales

ADVERTISE

U. S. Department of Labor

Never before has the American public had the money to spend which it has today.

The merchant or manufacturer who sits back and waits for this money to come to him without making any effort to get it will awaken when it is too late. He will then realize that his more aggressive competitor has been on the job and has taken advantage of the strongest sales weapon known to industry, namely, advertising.

Don't wait for things to come your way without doing anything to help them along.

Advertise—increase your advertising. use the newspapers to tell your story. Multiply the value of your sales talk a thousand fold and more. Develop that great potential market which is ready and willing—yes eager to buy the things you have to sell but does not know that you have them.

To stimulate business surely, quickly, and economically—Advertise now.

FOX TROTS ON LIBERTY LEGS

Limbs Blown Off by Shell, But This Man Continues to Trip Light, Fantastic Toe to Jazz Accompaniment.

Lillard Evans is a colored soldier boy who had both legs blown off in action. He lives for the present at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio in San Francisco. He can and does dance fox trots and one steps. How? Why?

Of course to dance a fox trot or a one-step a fellow has to have legs—good legs. Well, Evans has them—not his own legs of flesh and bone, but his own willow legs with joints and everything. He is going to leave Letterman pretty soon and go back to work and make his living and probably get married and raise children. That's the how.

The why of it is—the government of the United States has gone in for leg and arm making. It is giving a specially built leg or arm or hand or a pair of legs or arms or hands to every soldier who lost his legs or arms in the war. At Letterman in particular they are making Liberty legs and arms and hands in their own workshop. They are making them because they have hit upon a better artificial limb than some manufacturers were turning out.

This is one phase of the reconstruction work that Uncle Sam is quietly carrying on. It is one of the least expensive, but it is costing hundreds of thousands of dollars. Remember that when Uncle Sam comes a-knocking at your door with the Victory Liberty Loan. Much of the money you will lend is going to regenerate these men who gave of their flesh and blood for their country.

We must all drink of the Victory cup the Secretary of the Treasury offers us. We cannot turn down an empty Glass

SAVE THE SURFACE.

Save the surface and you save all. Disintegration and decay are conditions which usually start at the surface of any material. Protection against deterioration or rot of substances, therefore, should begin with care of the exterior. Provided a material does not carry within itself the element of sure decay, proper surface protection will undoubtedly lengthen its life.

BUYING LIVES, ONE PURPOSE OF LOAN

Your Victory Liberty Bond Subscriptions Will Help Pay for Saving of Hundreds of Thousands of "Doughboys"

One of the features of the coming Victory Liberty Loan is that it will, in part, pay the cost of saving the lives of more than 500,000 Yanks and thousands of our allies, according to Lewis B. Franklin, Director of the U. S. War Loan Organization.

"The speed and bravery of the American doughboy affected the Germans on the front line more than it did the men at German general headquarters," states Mr. Franklin, "but the fact that America was preparing for a drive on Berlin struck terror to the general staff.

LEWIS B. FRANKLIN
War Loan Director.

"And those millions and billions of dollars spent were far from being wasted in an unnecessary preparation. I feel that the fact that money was spent and that an enormous output of munitions was ready was the controlling factor in the weakening of the German general staff, and that it caused their message to the kaiser that they were beaten and that he must sue for peace. And the way I see it is that this money, instead of being wasted, can be written down as having saved the lives of hundred of thousands of American men who would have been sacrificed had the war continued another year.

"That is the money we are going to ask the American people for in the Liberty Loan. We are going to ask them for the money to bring our boys home safe and sound, instead of leaving them buried in France. And when the people of America realize what this money did, we are not going to find that they are lacking in patriotism to 'come across.'"

Diamond SQUEEGEE TREAD Tires

Mark those 3 Continuous Bars on the Tread

How quickly a railroad coach would pound to pieces if it had to jump three inches from one rail to the next. Skips or gaps in the rolling surface of tires are equally disastrous.

Those three continuous ribs on the Diamond Squeegee Tread give as smooth a rolling surface as though it was a smooth tread tire. "More-Mileage Ribs" we call them, for they put more rubber right where the wear comes.

Yet that scientifically designed Diamond Squeegee Tread halts forward and side skids. It adds mileage—you'll run a Diamond thousands of miles before you wear down those Squeegee Ribs. Cut your tire upkeep with a Diamond.

The dome of the United States Capitol at Washington is kept in excellent condition by painting it every few years. For this work forty painters are steadily employed for three months' time. Over five thousand gallons of paint are required for one coat. The reason for painting the Capitol dome at regular intervals is to prevent disintegration of metallic surface.

PAINT AS AN ASSET.

Bankers Say They Lend More Money on Property When Buildings Are Well Painted.

AN INDICATION OF THRIFT.

One Concern Advances 25 Per Cent. More if Repainting Is Done Every Five Years.

Does it pay to paint carefully farm buildings? Does it add to the selling value of a farm when buildings are properly kept up and regularly painted? A careful inquiry of a number of leading bankers in the Mississippi valley, including such states as Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri, reveals the fact that in nearly every case the bankers did not hesitate to say that they would lend all the way from 5 to 50 per cent. more on land where farm buildings were well painted and kept in good condition. They maintain that well kept-up and well painted buildings and fences are an indication of thrift and that the thrifty farmer is a good client, and to him money can be safely loaned. An average of the returns from these bankers shows that the increased loan value because of painted buildings is around 22 per cent.

Some of these bankers make interesting comment. A Michigan concern says that, while not especially prepared to advise definitely in response to this inquiry, the officers would loan more money on farms where buildings were painted than where they were not so treated. This bank also finds that where houses, barns and fences are well taken care of the farm is a profitable proposition, and bankers in general consider the farmer a good client. Another Michigan bank says "farm buildings out of repair and needing paint indicate that the owner is slow pay." Such farms are rated at about one-third of the assessed value for loans. Where the farm buildings are in good shape the rating is one-half. The president of a middle western bank says that when real estate loans are considered, painted buildings are always taken into consideration in making an estimate. The general appearance of the property surrounding the house and barn and also the fields and fences would be carefully observed. He further says that he has no hesitancy in saying that he would absolutely refuse a loan on farms where the buildings were not kept up and well painted. In his judgment, unpainted farm buildings would reduce the loan value at least 25 per cent.

A Minnesota banker says that he is much more willing to loan money where the buildings are well painted. In his particular case he believes that he would loan 20 per cent. more than if the buildings were not properly taken care of. A farmer who will keep his buildings painted takes a much deeper interest in his work than one who does not. Another Minnesota bank says that well painted buildings have resulted in securing from his bank sometimes as high as 25 per cent. more money than where the buildings are not painted. An Ohio concern says that it will loan 25 per cent. more money on a well kept farm where buildings are painted at least once every five years. A southern Illinois bank says that it has no fixed rule about this, but it does make a decided difference when owners of farm lands apply for loans. If the buildings are well painted and thus well preserved the loan rate would not only be cheaper, but the amount of money borrowed would be larger. A northern Illinois bank does not hesitate to say that it would loan fully 50 per cent. more on a farm where buildings were well painted and in good order than where they were not. The vice president, who answers the inquiry, goes on to say: "There probably are many farmers good financially and morally who permit their buildings to remain unpainted, but as a rule the most substantial people who live in the country keep their buildings well painted."

An Iowa bank, through its vice president, states that it would make a difference of at least 25 per cent. in favor of the farm with painted buildings. Another Iowa concern says that it would make a difference of at least 20 per cent.

All this being true, it is perfectly evident that it is a good business proposition to keep the farm buildings well painted. They not only look better and are more pleasing to the owner, but the farm would sell to better advantage, the loan value of the property would be greatly increased and the buildings themselves would last much longer and need less repair.—The American Agriculturist.

PAINT AND ILLITERACY.

Curious Fact Comes to Light That Localities Least Using Books Avoid Paint Also.

Washington, D. C.—A curious fact has been brought to light by the Educational Bureau and the Bureau of Industrial Research here. It is that in the states where illiteracy is most prevalent paint is least used. The paint referred to is the common or barn variety, of course, for the backwoods countries have no need for the finer pigments or facial adornments. It is true, though, that in the sections of all states where white illiteracy is highest painted homes are rare and painted outbuildings and barns are practically unknown. Probably the illiterates do not use paint on their buildings because they do not understand its value as a preservative.

PAINT PROTECTION AND ITS ECONOMY.

The preservation of structural materials, which may be obtained through the application of paint, constitutes a most vital means of furthering the conservation of our natural resources. It is, moreover, the most economical method of sustaining the appearance and general upkeep of any community.

A structure coated with sheets of India rubber would not be as well protected from decay as a structure coated with a good oil paint. This is due to the fact that a sheet of rubber is not so durable or as waterproof as a thin dried film of paint. The latter material when applied dries to a continuous elastic film containing finely divided particles of metallic, wear resisting pigments. A square foot of such a film upon a wooden surface costs less than a penny, yet it will beautify and protect a dollar's worth of surface for many years. This is a low rate of insurance.

Dwellings, barns, outbuildings, sheds, posts, fences, stock enclosures, wagons, implements, windmills and other structures, whether of wood, iron or cement, should be preserved, through the use of paint, from rapid decay. High grade paint may be used successfully for all such purposes. Colored paints will be found the most serviceable, the coloring matter in the paint adding from two to three years to the life of the coating.

"MAN IS MENTALLY SUPERIOR"

Melrose, April, 17.—Alas, woman is no more. In the debate held here on the subject "Resolved that man is mentally superior to woman," the affirmative side championed by which Prof. Stuart A. Houff and Ira Long scored a touch down. The hall was crowded and gave attention from beginning to end. Misses Martz and Witt called on the "Grandmother of Russia" to testify, "The Virginia Queen" was called back from the shades and the poets lent their rhymes, but before the master minds of Foch, Washington, Lee, John Bunyan and "a thousand and one" other men, the careful judges—Miss Irene Flick and Messrs. W. K. Neff, T. A. Fateley, J. Owen Long and D. N. Flick,finally decided that woman had best bow before man, make apologies for claiming superiority and then forever more be content to enjoy the privilege of being man's help mate.

WHAT TIME IS IT?

Tick-tock—

It isn't much of a clock as clocks go. Just an ordinary, everyday affair, such as one sees on the wall of almost any office. Perhaps you'd never glance up at it unless you happened to be late for luncheon.

It hangs in the counting-room of one of the biggest banks in New York, and there's nothing unusual about it except that it was put up the same day an Austrian princeling got himself killed at Sarajevo—and started the war.

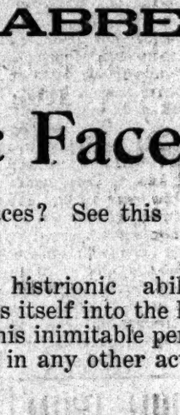
It used to keep pretty good time.

After we got into the war and got to going good, some one put a little red sign across the face of it so that whenever you looked up to see what time it was you saw the little sign staring at you impertinently;

"TIME TO BUY LIBERTY BONDS."

Tick-tock—

That clock was ticking off the minutes when the guns were booming along the Somme and while the Crown Prince was battering vainly at the gates of Verdun. It was ticking when the Lusitania went down—when Bernstorff went back—when Pershing went over. It was ticking when there wasn't an American soldier on the Western Front, and when there were two million, with more on the way.



Tick-tock—

It was ticking that day four months ago when the German Armistice Commissioner took out his fountain pen and signed his name on the dotted line—ticking at the rate of $555 a second.

Tick-tock—

$555.

Sixty seconds make a minute—sixty minutes make an hour—$50,000,000 a day.

That's what the war was costing America when the Armistice was signed.

Quick! Some one! Stop the clock! Well, some one did.

That day of our first Peace Celebration when we all went crazy and tore loose, some wag in the bank did stop the clock. Took out the pendulum and tied a big piece of black crepe on the clock itself. And everybody laughed and yelled their heads off—because the war was over.

That was the end of it. The war was over—the clock was stopped and everything.

Well—almost everything.

Other clocks still went on ticking—at $555 a second! They're still ticking. Not at $555, to be sure—but it will run far into millions before next June.

We still have a job to finish. We still have war-bills to pay. And Americans always pay their bills.

We still have an army at the bridgeheads of the Rhine, and we've got to keep it there for a while—if we're going to get a real peace in place of an armistice.

And then there are the soldiers to bring back and the wounded to care for and the crippled to make over and jobs to find—before our job is finished—before we can turn all our energies to making plows and automobiles again.

It's going to take money. And we've got to raise it. That's part of our job—yours and mine and the people's next door.

The bank with the clock can't do it—all the banks in the country can't do it—if we are going to go ahead afterward making plows and automobiles and opening up new mines and planting more wheat fields.

We've got to have credit, if we are going to get back on a prosperous business basis. And we can't have credit, if the banks have all their money tied up in Liberty Loans.

Whenever one thinks of the prosperity and happiness we can have in this country, if we make good use of the opportunities that lie just ahead, he should think of that clock in the bank with its streamer of crepe and its little red sign:

And of the millions of other clocks that were ticking off the minutes during the war just as that clock in the bank did and—well—

Tick-tock—

Those clocks are still ticking. There's another liberty loan coming.

Tick-tock—

What time will it be by your clock next month when the Victory Liberty Bonds are offered?
